

Application for 2022 Harvard Psychiatry Research Day Poster Session

COMPLETE SUBMISSION DEADLINE: January 24th, 2022 at 5:00pm.

This is the deadline to submit your Abstract, Poster file, optional audio recording, optional Zoom meeting link, and all other information requested below.

Unlike last year, there will NOT be a second submission form. Everything must be submitted through this form.

The 2022 Harvard Psychiatry Research Day will take place virtually. There will be a poster session website that will become live approximately one week prior to March 9th, and remain active for at least a month. The poster sessions will happen from 1:30-3:30pm on March 9th on Zoom. The Mysell Lecture will take place from 3:45-5:15pm on March 9th on Zoom.

Due to the uncertainties of the pandemic, we need adequate time to upload all poster files to our virtual poster session site. Because it takes many weeks to do this, all posters must be submitted through this form (as both PNG and PDF files) by January 24th at 5pm. There will NOT be any opportunities after January 24th to submit additional information or revisions.

INSTRUCTIONS

Acceptance of submissions is determined by the Mysell Committee of the Department of Psychiatry.

There is a limit of one-first authored presentation per person.

Abstracts are limited to 2,200 characters (INCLUDING spaces, but EXCLUDING title and authors in the character count).

The Abstract Body must include the following headings: Background, Methods, Results, Conclusions (see below these instructions for the sample abstract format).

Begin the application ONLY when you have time to finish it in one sitting. If you exit the application before submitting the form, your responses may not be saved.

If you need to modify your submission after submitting this form, AND it is still before the initial submission deadline, you may submit a second application form with the modifications included. We will use only the latest submission that is received prior to the deadline. Once the deadline has passed, we will not accept any additional submissions/modifications.

Please contact Heather Adams at heather_adams@hms.harvard.edu if you encounter any difficulties submitting this form.

Also, please note that if you mistype your email address, you will not receive an email summary of your submission.

POSTER LAYOUT REQUIREMENTS

Poster File Format: PNG file

Mandatory Dimensions: 1920 pixels (width) x 1080 pixels (height)

Warning: Poster PNG files that are wider than 2500 pixels will not be uploaded to the site.

File Size Limit: 40 MB, BUT we strongly encourage you to make it smaller than 350 KB, since larger file sizes will be compressed.

Additional File to Upload: In addition to the PNG, please also upload a SINGLE-PAGE PDF of your poster.

Tip: You could first create your poster in PowerPoint, then save as a PDF, then save as a PNG file. Alternatively, there are probably many superior methods.

FEATURES OF YOUR PRESENTER PAGE ON THE POSTER WEBSITE

Each presenter will have their own page on the virtual poster session website. You can view the site from last year here: <https://postersmysell.psych.hms.harvard.edu>. The following information will appear on each presenter's site page (note: you will NOT have access to make direct modifications to the page at any point):

- your name
- your institutional affiliation
- title of your poster
- authors
- research categories associated with your poster
- PNG of your poster
- possibly also a PDF of your poster
- your scientific abstract in plain text, to appear in a screen reader friendly section
- a link to your Zoom meeting for one of the live poster sessions on March 9th (optional)
- an embedded SoundCloud link to your 2-5 minute audio presentation (optional)
- a link to view a transcription of your audio presentation (to conform to Harvard's Accessibility standards, optional)

- a link to your professional website (optional)

MODIFYING YOUR CONTENT

Due to the high number of posters in this virtual event, and our limited staffing, we will not be able to accommodate requests to update data collection results. Please only request changes to your submission if you notice a particular error on our part, and please do so as far in advance as possible.

ZOOM RECOMMENDATIONS FOR YOUR LIVE SESSION

All presenters will be able to select one of three Zoom poster presentation session times on this form, where you will be in your own individual Zoom room for visitors to discuss your poster with you. Each session is scheduled for forty minutes on March 9th.

Individuals who do not already have a Zoom account can sign up for a free Zoom account at <https://zoom.us> in order to be able to host a forty-minute meeting. Participation in your live Zoom session is of course optional and you may opt out of this aspect of the event by indicating so in the form below.

Please be sure to test your Zoom link prior to submitting the form to make sure that it actually works. Make sure that you enable in your Zoom account settings "Embed passcode in invite link for one-click join." If you do not encrypt your password as part of your link, visitors will not be able to join your room, since your poster page will NOT have a separate place for people to view/enter a password. (Alternatively, you may use a waiting room instead of a password.)

Note: it is fine with us if you want to share a Zoom account with another presenter for the same live session. One of you could use a breakout room when someone visits your site, if the other presenter sharing your Zoom account already has a visitor. If you want to do this, there is no need to notify us. Simply submit the same Zoom meeting link in each presenter's poster application form. There will still be a "join live Zoom session" button on each of your personal presenter pages, but it will just link to the same Zoom meeting.

AUDIO RECORDING INSTRUCTIONS (optional)

Our poster website will use the SoundCloud embeddable player. If you would like to have a 2-5 minute audio recording of your presentation on your personal presenter page, then you should do the following:

1. Record yourself speaking for 2-5 minutes about your project (on your smartphone with a voice recording app such as Voice Memo, Voice Recorder, etc., or on your computer with PowerPoint, Sound Recorder, Audacity, GarageBand, QuickTime Player, etc.).

Ideally your recording would generate a WAV, AIFF, FIAC, or MP3 file, but SoundCloud accepts many additional file types as well.

2. Create a free account at <https://soundcloud.com>
3. Upload your audio recording file to your SoundCloud Account by clicking the "Upload" button on the top navigation bar, then drag & drop your file, or click the file to upload
4. Make the privacy setting "Public"
5. Copy the URL for your audio track that appears in the Share section
6. Paste the URL into the appropriate text box in the form below

TRANSCRIPTION INSTRUCTIONS FOR YOUR AUDIO RECORDING (optional, but STRONGLY ENCOURAGED if submitting a link to your audio recording)

In order to conform to the spirit of Harvard's Accessibility Guidelines, we strongly encourage you to submit a transcript of your audio recording. Here is how you can make a transcript:

Recommended Method: use a professional transcription service endorsed by Harvard, either Rev or 3Play Media to transcribe your audio file. Rev charges $1.25/minute, and the turnaround time for project of this size is within 12 hours, with 99% accuracy guaranteed. (3Play Media charges a bit more and takes a bit longer.)

Alternative Method: use a free AI tool (e.g., Youtube or IBM Watson) and then perform manual editing to produce a transcript of your audio recording.

Sample Abstract Format

The impact of patients' expectations on clinical response: Re-analysis of data from the Hypericum Depression Trial Study Group

J. Chen J, G.I. Papakostas, S.J. Youn, L. Baer, A.J. Clain, M. Fava, D. Mischoulon
Depression Clinical and Research Program, Dept. of Psychiatry, Massachusetts General Hospital, Harvard Medical School

Background: Patient belief about assigned double-blind treatment may influence outcome. We reanalyzed data from the Hypericum Depression Trial Study Group's placebo-controlled trial of St. John's wort (SJW) versus sertraline for major depressive disorder (MDD) to determine whether patients who believed they were receiving active therapy rather than placebo obtained greater improvement, independent of assigned treatment.

Methods: 340 adults with MDD and baseline HAM-D-17 scores of ≥ 20 were randomized to either SJW 900-1500 mg/d, sertraline 50-100 mg/d, or placebo for 8 weeks. At week 8, patients were asked to guess their assigned treatment. 243 subjects met intent-to-treat criteria. Univariate ANOVA was used to determine whether treatment assignment moderated the effect of belief on clinical improvement. Logistic regression examined whether treatment assignment moderated the effect of belief on response ($\geq 50\%$ decrease in HAM-D-17 score) and remission (final HAM-D-17 score < 8).

Results: Significant differences in improvement were found for belief in SJW ($p < 0.001$) or sertraline ($p = 0.001$) versus placebo, with strongest improvement in the SJW-believing group. Response rates were significantly stronger for subjects guessing active treatments ($p < 0.001$ for SJW and sertraline) versus placebo, and for subjects guessing SJW versus sertraline (Fisher's $p = 0.049$). Association between belief and improvement remained significant when controlling for assigned treatment ($p < 0.001$). A significant association with response was seen only for treatment guess ($p = 0.003$, 95% CI = 0.588), but not for assigned treatment. No significant associations were found for remission rates.

Conclusions: Patient expectations regarding treatment may exert a greater influence on clinical outcome than the actual medication received.

Abstract Body

Please upload your abstract as a DOCX file, using Microsoft Word.

The file should be labeled LastnameFirstnameAbstract, so if your name were Sarah Smith, the file would be saved as "SmithSarahAbstract.docx"

Abstracts are limited to 2,200 characters (including spaces, but excluding title and authors in the character count). Abstracts exceeding this length, or those that do not follow the mandatory format below will not be considered.

Mandatory Abstract Format:

Poster Title

Authors, Institutional Affiliations

Background: briefly describe the experimental question and context here

Methods: briefly describe how the study was conducted here

Results: describe the outcome, including statistical support where appropriate here

Conclusions: briefly summarize the results, place the study in the broader context of previous research, and describe the clinical relevance of the findings here

Please also upload your Abstract as a PDF here (file size is limited to 100 MB). It should be labeled LastnameFirstnameAbstract.pdf, so if your name were Sarah Smith, the file label would be "SmithSarahAbstract.pdf" Be sure to include all content categories and labels that appear in the Sample Abstract Format in the instructions at the beginning of this form (i.e., Title, Authors, Background, Methods, Results, Conclusions). [Note: this PDF is different from the PDF of your actual poster that you will submit later in this form.]

Please enter the title of your poster, exactly as it should appear on your virtual poster page. Do NOT use any quotation marks. Only capitalize the first letter of main words in the title.

Please list ONLY the names and degrees of the authors for your POSTER presentation (INCLUDING your own name and degree), in the order that they should appear on the virtual poster website, with a comma separating each name (e.g., Anna Freud, MD, PhD, Albert Einstein, PhD)

Please select the research categories that you would like to have associated with your poster on the virtual poster site, which we will use if the event is not held in person. (If none of the options closely aligns with your project, you may enter a topic in the "Other" text box.)

If you would like a link to your research program's website to appear on your virtual poster page, please enter that link here.

Please upload your poster as a PNG file. Be sure to label the file LASTNAME_FIRSTNAME.png. The PNG file MUST BE 1920 x 1080 pixels. (It will not be used if the width is greater than 2500 pixels.) The file size is strongly encouraged to be less than 350 KB, and MUST be less than 40 MB. (Files larger than 350 KB will be compressed.)

Please upload your POSTER PDF here (file size limited to 100 MB). Be sure to label your file LASTNAME_FIRSTNAME.pdf (e.g., John Smith's poster pdf would be labeled SMITH_JOHN.pdf)

Please confirm that you labeled your poster pdf and png files according to the instructions above. (If not, please remove your upload, rename the file, and upload a correctly labeled documents.)

- Yes, I correctly labeled my poster PDF and PNG files according to the LASTNAME_FIRSTNAME format

Does your poster PNG file have the correct dimensions? (PNG files with widths 2500 pixels or greater will not be posted to the site.)

- Yes, the width is 1920 pixels, and the height is 1080 pixels.

The virtual poster website will list three live virtual poster presentation sessions, where each presenter can display a link to their own individual Zoom room for an advertised 40-minute period, the same as occurred for the virtual poster site in 2020. During your indicated live virtual poster session time, visitors can stop by your individual Zoom room to discuss your poster research with you. If you would like to participate in this, please indicate your preferred Zoom session time on March 9th. (If the event is in-person, you will be able to stand by your physical poster from 1:30-3:30pm that day.)

- 1:30-2:10pm
- 2:10-2:50pm
- 2:50-3:30pm
- I do not want to participate in any of the virtual live poster presentation sessions.

Display This Question:

If The virtual poster website will list three live virtual poster presentation sessions, where each... != I do not want to participate in any of the virtual live poster presentation sessions.

Please paste the link to your Zoom meeting for the time that you selected above on March 9th. (Before pasting the link below, be sure that you have first adjusted your Zoom account settings to "embed passcode in invite link for one-click join"). Then test the link to make sure that it works.) If you don't already have a Zoom account, you can obtain a free one at zoom.us.

Did you test the Zoom link to make sure that it works? If it does not work, you will NOT be notified or given an opportunity to adjust it.

- Yes, I logged out of my Zoom account, and then tested my link to make sure it works with just one click.
- No, I did not test my link. I understand that if it doesn't work, I won't be able to participate in a live virtual poster session.

(Optional) Please paste the URL link to your 2-5 minute audio recording file that you uploaded to your free SoundCloud account (Note: be sure that you have first adjusted your SoundCloud account's privacy settings to "Public")

(Strongly Encouraged) Please upload a TRANSCRIPTION of your audio recording (supported file types: DOCX, TXT). This helps to make our virtual poster site accessible to all.
